Barry, Rocky In California Showdown

GOP Presidential Contest Steams Into Critical Turn

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican presidential race steams into a critical turn today as Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller meet in their dramatic California showdown.

After the smoke has cleared and the primary votes counted, Republicans may have a clearer idea whether Goldwater's strong charge toward the nomination has gained unstoppable momentum.

Rockefeller is Goldwater's only opponent in today's balloting and write-ins are not counted. Thus supporters of some of the other contenders are rallying around the New York governor's colors.

At immediate stake are California's 86 delegates to the Republican National Convention.

Some observers feel that with Goldwater's strong lead in delegates a California victory will almost assure him of the GOP nomination.

On the other hand, a defeat, some feel, will make it a new race and a wide-open field with Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Richard M. Nixon figuring strongly.

India Picks Shastri To Succeed Nehru

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's ruling Congress party named mild-mannered Lal Bahadur Shastri by acclamation today to succeed the late Prime Minister Nehru. He pledged to work for Nehru's goal of a united Socialist nation.

"Socialism is our objective," Shastri said shortly after Congress party members of Parliament named him their leader, a designation which automatically carried nomination as prime minister.

Shastri, 59, gave no clue to the foreign policy he will pursue. He indicated high regard for Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, a leading candidate for the foreign minister's post.

Shastri wept as he recalled Nehru's death last week and said of Mrs. Gandhi: "Her continued association with us will be a source of strength to all of us."

He welcomed the support of former Finance Minister Morarji Desai, his opponent who yielded after a determined five-day succession struggle.

"I am sure this will generate a new confidence in the country and will have an impact on the outside world also," Shastri said.

Shastri said the party's immediate task is to fight India's

Youth Held For Theft of Three Cars

EAST LIVERPOOL — An 18-year-old East Liverpool youth arrested early today by local police has admitted taking a Lisbon auto that was found abandoned in Akron and theft of two more cars in the Summit County city — including one abandoned here — police reported.

The suspect, identified as Franklin D. Watkins, was taken into custody at 1 this morning on a warrant issued at Akron.

Lt. William E. McDaniel said Watkins admitted the theft of a 1959 convertible of Dean Senefees, 579 Washington St., Lisbon. The Lisbon man's auto, reported stolen Saturday night from N. Park Ave., Lisbon, was found abandoned Sunday morning in Akron, but $700 in property was missing, according to Senefees.

Senefees said the loot included a movie camera, .32 caliber revolver and a citizens band radio. The property still is missing, according to Lisbon police.

Lt. McDaniel said Watkins admitted theft of another auto in Akron and said he also stole a third auto in the Summit County

"The country must remain united and it is important we realize our grave responsibilities toward the betterment of our people," he declared. "The economic issues are most vital for us."

turnique, the United States agreed "to establish a general license procedure under which most commodities may be exported to Romania without the necessity for individual export license."

The Bucharest government, which has rejected Soviet economic domination, is reported to have a shopping list for purchases of industrial equipment in the United States and Western Europe amounting to possibly $150 million.

How much of this will be bought in the United States under a government agreement announced Monday will depend on what kind of deals the Romanians can make with manufacturers and the credit terms they can get.

U.S. officials said the credit is still unresolved and will require a decision by President Johnson. However they expect Johnson will decide it is in the U.S. interest to have the Export-Import Bank guarantee five-year credits for Romania.

The new pact negotiated during the past two weeks also provides that the legations in Washington and Bucharest will be elevated to embassies. William A. Crawford, U.S. minister to Romania, is expected to be given the new ambassadorial post.

American officials said the agreement will definitely mean more export business for this country but they also attached considerable political significance to it.

In effect the United States has taken the position that since Romania has shown growing independence of Moscow and has chosen to engage in industrial expansion against Soviet advice, the United States is prepared to help the Romanians with their expansion.

American officials believe this action will create a favorable impact on other Eastern European countries and help to open them further to the West.

Just In Case, Know What to Do

Vacation Time Often Means Traffic Mishaps

Good weather is here and already families are planning their annual vacation trips. With the millions of cars flooding the highways today law enforcement agencies are advocating what is known as "defensive driving." Essentially, this means the driver should be prepared for whatever emergency may arise.

Road emergencies take various forms. A tire may blow out at high speed and throw your car off the road or might make your car swerve into the other lane of traffic causing an accident. In another case, someone may ram your car from the rear causing heavy damage and possible injury.

EACH STATE HAS various laws concerning what a driver must do following an automobile accident, if you plan to travel into many other states, it might be wise to check on various regulations if you plan to be in another state for considerable length of time. In any accident the investigating police officer should be asked to explain the requirements to you.

As part of "defensive driving" it's a good idea to form an advance plan on what you would do in the event of an automobile accident. Here are a few easy rules that every driver should memorize:

1. Stop immediately after the accident. Leaving the scene can result in serious criminal consequences in many states, including Ohio.

2. Give your name, address and other information to the other driver involved in the accident. In Ohio you are required to give such information to those involved in the crash as well as the police.

3. Protect the accident scene from further trouble. It's a wise idea to carry flares or other markers to warn approaching drivers. You may be liable for damages in some states unless approaching drivers are properly warned.

4. Attempt to protect those injured from further injury.

5. Notify the police.

6. Gather detailed information on the accident and write it down. Measure skid marks, step off distances and be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses as well as of those involved in the accident.

7. Under the Ohio Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Act, the driver of a motor vehicle must report to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles any accident in which anyone is killed or injured or property damage exceeds $100. This report must be made within five days and must be made whether or not you are at fault.

8. Do not give any opinion as to the cause of the accident unless you are absolutely certain your opinion is correct. If you are arrested and required to appear on a traffic charge you should obtain the advice of an attorney before admitting guilt or liability.

9. Inform your insurance company promptly of the accident.

10. Make no payments to other persons without legal advice. In any serious accident, you should consult with a physician to see if there is any injury.

The underground garage is supposed to be ready in November, and commission chairman William Knepper says: "If I were guessing, the garage will be operated by a management firm."

"What you don't know about car insurance can cost you money," says Nationwide

Nationwide Insurance reveals some little known facts to help you get better protection for less money — if you're a careful driver.

Americans spend $6 billion a year on car insurance. Yet most people hardly know a thing about what they're buying.

Nationwide agents make a point of giving their customers all the facts, and we believe in doing the same thing in our advertising. Here are answers to some of the most often-asked questions about car insurance.

1. Will I get the same rates from all companies?

No. You may be surprised to learn that there is a considerable difference between companies.

Some companies such as the Nationwide companies are much fussier than others about whom they insure. They accept only people with good driving records. As a result, they can charge less because they have fewer accident claims to pay.

If you're looking for car insurance, be sure to talk to a Nationwide man. There's a good chance he can offer a better deal on car insurance than his competition.

2. Are there different ways of figuring my rates?

Yes. Few people realize there are two kinds of rating plans. They are "non-variable" and "variable."

"Non-variable" is the most popular kind.

Your policy is based on flat rates which do not depend on your driving record.

"Variable" is the "merit-demerit" plan. The more accidents you have, the higher your rates. The fewer accidents, the lower your rates.

Here in Ohio, the Nationwide companies sell both kinds.

3. Why do men under 25 pay such high rates?

Drivers in this age group have a much higher percentage of accidents than drivers in any other age group. And these young drivers have worse accidents, too.

NOTE: Nationwide knows that not all males under 25 are careless drivers.

We were the first insurance company to offer lower rates to young men who complete a qualified driver training course.

4. What factors besides age affect rates?

Several. The year of your car. Your occupation. The size of your town. How much you use your car. These things all count.

Keep your agent up-to-date on all points.

For example, be sure to tell him if you move. Many people don't, and are paying a lot more than they should for car insurance.

5. Can a careful driver save money?

Yes. A person with a good driving record can almost always qualify for insurance with a company like Nationwide. Nationwide can save a careful driver as much as $40 a year, or more.

6. How do companies decide who's a careful driver?

As yet no company has come up with a foolproof way of deciding. However, we are finding that careful drivers have certain things in common. For instance, they drive less than 20 miles to and from work. They've been in the same line of work for the past five years. And they're married.

Some of these things may not seem to have much to do with how well you drive, but we find they go together with an accident-free driving record.

7. Do women drivers pay less than men?

Women over 25 pay the same as men. Women under 25 pay anywhere from 10 to 63 percent less than men in this age group. The reason? Young women have fewer accidents than young men. Our records prove it!

8. Why have my rates gone up even though I've never had an accident?

Because insurance companies are paying out more money in claims than ever before. How come? There are more cars on the road than ever before (about 22 cars for every mile of road). There are more accidents per 100 cars. Cars cost more to repair. Juries are awarding bigger settlements.

As long as insurance companies have to pay out more, they have to take in more. Result: you pay higher rates.

9. What if I'm hit by a driver with no insurance?

You can now buy insurance that will protect you if this happens. It's called Uninsured Motorists Coverage. You can add this protection to a Nationwide policy for just a few dollars.

10. Do some insurance companies offer faster claim service than others?

Yes. But most companies today offer excellent claim service. They have to or they wouldn't stay in business.

Nationwide is the second largest mutual car insurer in the world. We think one reason we've gotten so big is that we pay over half of all our claims within 24 hours after proof of loss. Nearly two-thirds of all claims within 72 hours.

Amazing record for fast claim settlement

We believe our Nationwide drive-in claims station in Columbus holds the world record for fast payment.

A man driving in for a damage estimate misjudged the distance between his car and our doorway. The result: a fresh crease in his fender.

Time between accident and payment — four minutes.

11. Do all insurance companies have drive-in claims stations?

No. Only a few. Nationwide introduced the country's first drive-in claims station in 1954. We now have them in 48 cities. They are saving people time and trouble.

12. Can I lower my rates?

There's a good chance you can. Here are some things you can do:

► Take a larger deductible amount on your collision coverage. This will lower your premium. Example: collision coverage with $100 deductible may cost you 25 to 30 percent less than the same coverage with $50 deductible.

► If you have a boy in high school who drives your car, enroll him in his school's driver training course. This may lower your liability rates 5 to 15 percent.

► If you own two cars, be sure they are both insured with the same company. You may get a discount. Nationwide generally offers a 10 percent discount for both cars.

► If you think you're a careful driver, and you have a good driving record, be sure to give Nationwide a try. You may find that we can save you some of your hard-earned money.

If you have any questions that are not answered in this advertisement, check the Yellow Pages for the number of a Nationwide agent.

He'll give you the same kind of no-nonsense answers that you've been reading here.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's job takes him out on the road four days a week. Lately he has started something new. When he returns on Thursday night he lines up our three boys, age 12, 10 and 6, and invites them to tell on each other.

The one who has the "most complete" report — this means the child who tells the most on his brothers — is the winner of a nice, new shiny dollar.

I didn't like the idea from the first and I said so. It makes me sick to hear these children tattle on one another. My husband says it's the best way to keep them in line.

Last night I heard the middle boy add all sorts of curlicues to an incident which he was reporting about his older brother. Later I asked him why he embellished the story beyond the truth. He replied, "Because I wanted to win the dollar."

Please print my letter and your answer. I would like my husband to see it. — THE AGAINSTER.

Dear AGAINSTER: I hope your husband will disband the home-grown spy ring at once. The little game he is playing unquestionably will develop some very undesirable character traits in his sons. It also will teach them to distrust and despise each other.

If your husband must play games he should encourage each boy to report on himself. Such reporting will foster truth and integrity.

Joy Turns to Doubt

Dear Ann: Five months ago today I got my engagement ring. I was the happiest girl alive.

The wedding is planned for September, but as the time draws near I become more frightened and less sure of our love. All Mac and I do is fight. We haven't had a pleasant evening together in weeks.

Certain things about Mac that I used to think were cute now annoy me — his laugh, for instance. I fixed him a bacon-and-tomato sandwich last night and he found four things wrong with it: the bread was too hard, there wasn't enough butter, the tomato was soggy and the bacon was too crisp.

Do all engaged couples go through a stage like this? I'm 23 and Mac is 26. — STAGE FRIGHT.

Dear Fright: Engaged people who would argue about a bacon-and-tomato sandwich probably are dwelling on trifles because they don't want to face up to their real problems.

If you two can't get your relationship on an even keel I urge you to break the engagement. This is not a stage. It's a preview of what your marriage would be like.

Childless Mother

Dear Ann: If you tell one more young girl to give up her out-of-wedlock child I'll scream.

How can you be so heartless? Don't you see that often the baby is all the girl will have in her whole life? I know what I'm talking about because it happened to me.

A social worker talked me into giving up my baby 18 years ago and I've cried myself to sleep every night since. Whenever I see a teen-ager on the

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Landers: I wonder if it could be mine.

My parents are dead now and I have two sisters who don't talk to me. All I know is work, an empty house and hours of loneliness. If I had kept my child my life would have been full. You are wrong, wrong, wrong. — JONQUIL.

Dear Jonquil: The social worker gave you good advice. To bring up a fatherless child is plenty tough, even for women who have strength and emotional stability. A woman who has cried every night for 18 years probably would have raised a child with a million problems.

If you are honest you'll admit you wanted the child NOT for the child's sake, but for your own.

Dear Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Don't Neglect a Sore Mouth

This story was told to me by a dentist and it's typical enough to be retold.

A patient with a "bump" on her tongue came to see him. On examination it appeared to be slightly raised, firm swelling about as big as, and shaped like, a small lima bean. Its surface was a smoothened than the rest of the tongue and it had an inflamed area that looked newly irritated. Its location was just to the right of the midline and about a half-inch from the tip.

The patient first noticed it about three weeks previously. Instead of "going away" it seemed to her to be getting bigger. Frequently during this time she accidentally bit it.

THE REST OF THE tongue was normal in appearance. The floor of the mouth was normal. There were no enlarged glands in the neck.

The question was raised: Was this woman biting this area because it was enlarged and an easy target for her teeth? Or was the swelling caused by the accidental biting?

If biting produced the swelling then it was not likely to be cancer, although chronic irritations are considered to be a cause. If the swelling was present prior to biting then it might be malignant. The patient couldn't make this distinction. And at the time of his first examination the dentist couldn't either.

THIS IS QUITE AN ordeal for a dentist or physician. At

Let's Be Realistic

For the want of a nail, the shoe was lost, so the old story goes.

The modern, local application might be: For the want of a 6-acre tract of ground, an industry was lost.

This hasn't happened and needn't occur, but the danger is very real. Salem Valve Company, a mushrooming, two-year-old concern, has outgrown its limited manufacturing facilities in the old Gonda building on Newgarden Ave. and wants to build a new plant farther south on the same road.

BLOCKING THESE PLANS at the moment is the Perry Township zoning law which classifies the particular area as residential, although it abuts two existing factories, Sterling Boat Trailers and Tooling Aids, Inc.

The Township Zoning Board has only to amend the zoning law in this particular case and Salem Valve will have the "green light" to proceed. It could mean that the firm's employment which already has climbed from 20 to more than 100, could be doubled within another year. Possibilities are unlimited, but the probabilities are, however, that the company may be forced to seek a suitable location in another city.

THIS NEWSPAPER strongly recommends that the township officials take action in favor of Salem Valve.

Now, more than ever before, we must be realistic about the highly competitive campaign among cities to attract new industries. This includes keeping what we have and extending every helping hand to permit existing industries to expand.

Actually, our industries ought to be entitled to the best sites, not the left-overs. And, in Salem Valve's case, it is a light industry whose facilities call for a "trim, neat building to harmonize with the surroundings." Salem has ground elsewhere along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks for heavy industry, where sidings are necessary, and the Chamber of Commerce and Salem Area Industrial Development Corporation are bending every effort to attract "customers."

AN IMPORTANT FACTOR in Salem's good "economic climate" is the preponderance of small diversified manufacturers. Without these companies, and the larger employers as well, our property values would drop and our tax rate would rise. Other costs would climb proportionately.

There will be rough days ahead for Salem if we become careless about our industries. Let's treat them all as "favorite sons," not "prodigal sons."

Going to Grass

The business with grass continues to intrigue me.

My interest began when I was scarcely able to push a lawn mower but insisted on doing it every time I got my hands on one. No one ever heard of a kid who liked to mow the lawn until I came along.

The most exciting job prospect I ever had was mowing interminable stretches of lawn on a country estate—a job that would have kept me on the march six days a week all summer. It didn't pan out, but I continued lawn-mowing as an unpaid pastime, as I always had.

It has been 15 years since transfer of the Twillery to Rosy Fingered Dawn put me in the middle of all the grass I could mow. In vintage years—and this is shaping up like one of the lushest—the green grass growing all around keeps me busy from late April until mid-October.

SINCE THE conclusion of the sheep enterprise that had helped to keep the grass mowed on the "other side of the fence," I have been mowing paths in that part of the Twillery which grows wild. This does not entail any more time than formerly was used up mowing noxious weeds the sheep wouldn't eat. The weeds are still there, but the grass now conceals them.

By Truman Twill

I do not resent grass-mowing. I resent only the fact it crowds me for time because of interruptions by rain conflicting engagements.

The passion for lawn mowing that set me apart from other kids persists after all these years. It does for me what golf, bowling, shooting, sports car driving, fishing and various other sports do for my contemporaries.

It takes my mind off other matters and lets it rest.

It provides a reason to walk during the summer time.

It gives my surroundings a special tint. The landscaping is nothing to marvel at, the buildings do not suggest the Taj Mahal and the location falls short of Beverly Hills. But grass!

EVERY KIND of grass that grows is there, somewhere. With a few exceptions, where results had to be obtained quickly, none of it ever was planted. It just grew.

In one particular place, where the dirt was piled up from an excavation, dense blue grass has taken hold. There are huge patches of white clover, though no one ever planted any white clover.

At any given instant during the grass season, some of the grass needs cutting. It is possible to start at any point and mow in any direction until the urge to mow has been used up.

As I say, the business with grass continues to intrigue me. I may need psychiatric help, for all I know, though I doubt if I need it any more than people who spend their away-from-work time fishing, shooting, jumping out of planes, swimming under water, striking at a little ball with a goofy implement, or strumming a guitar.

It may be a flashback from that job I didn't get on the country estate. I don't have the estate, but by all that's green I've got the grass. And I love every blade of it. If it quit growing, as it did last summer about this time because of drought, I'd be unhappy.

Predictable

It is a ghastly fact that more people are killed and maimed in auto traffic all the time as the population and auto registrations grow.

The fatality toll for a holiday weekend is as predictable as the death rate from tuberculosis, lung cancer, kidney disease and coronary failure. National Safety Council predicted a Memorial weekend toll of between 410 and 490 deaths. The actual toll was approximately 415.

This was well under the maximum that could have been projected from the previous record high of 1958, when 371 lost their lives during a three-day Memorial weekend. In 1958, the national auto registration was only 68½ million. Today, it is more than 82 million.

With no allowance for longer distances traveled on today's better highways, a projection of the 1958 accident rate indicated a 1964 death toll of 444.

All things considered, auto traffic keeps getting safer. Better highways, better cars and years of safety education are having a visible effect on safety. Streets and highways never can be made foolproof.

But if progress weren't being made, a three-day weekend in summer might be expected to produce more than 1,000 fatalities.

... Oh, yeah? I say my Daddy's more permissive than your Daddy!"

"Ike and I Can Make Beautiful Music Together — I Hope"

Reuther on the March

By VICTOR RIESEL

Walter Reuther and his union's high command are on the march against the automobile industry. They have put down their demands and batted plans in a series of confidential documents which are certain to raise temperatures and blood pressures in the air-conditioned executive suites of the manufacturers and the White House.

If the United Automobile Workers (UAW) union chiefs stick to these demands—and they say privately that they will—there certainly will be a series of strikes this summer and fall unless President Johnson intervenes. He will. But that may not avert all the walkouts.

Copies of one of these sibling documents, an angrily worded, 71-page, mimeographed booklet, are now in the hands of leaders of locals at General Motors' 131 plants.

IT WAS HANDED to key regional labor officials at their Detroit strategy conference last week for guidance when they returned to their home cities.

It gives my surroundings a special tint. The landscaping is nothing to marvel at, the buildings do not suggest the Taj Mahal and the location falls short of Beverly Hills. But grass!

The last is considered the most vital, according to insiders. Referred to simply as "Working Conditions," this four-page section provides an insight into what motivates the rank-and-file.

It's clear that the UAW will urge its locals to fight for a 10-minute rest period each hour—or about 80 minutes during a normal work day. There is a graphically written demand for "privacy" in the wash rooms. There is a charge that supervisors insist that, during relief time, the employee go directly to the washroom and then back to the assembly line. The union will insist on the worker's right to do what he wills with his relief time.

There are demands for work clothes and work gloves to be supplied by the company in good condition, for the right to refuse to work if the ventilation and other conditions "deemed proper" by the union are not met by the company, for time off and away from the factory for the handling of personal family and business matters.

ANOTHER DEMAND set out is for the ending of overtime while some union members are unemployed—unless there is a "short-time emergency."

The union says it will insist that it participate in deciding what constitutes the emergency. Furthermore, overtime shall be paid at double and triple time rates.

Reuther's union also wants a change in what management considers its rights. There is a clause in the GM-UAW contract which says:

"The right to hire, promote, discharge or discipline for cause; and to maintain discipline and efficiency of employees, is the sole responsibility of the corporation except that union members shall not be discriminated against as such.

REUTHER objects, because this could mean that a chap who started at 20 years of age could retire from the auto plant at 45 or 50 years of age and take another job while receiving a pension. This would not remove the so-called retiree from the work force and would not make for more job vacancies.

Reuther has been arguing inside the executive board that the money which the "25 to 30 year" formula would cost the companies could be used instead to buy annuities for the workers. This would give them $400 a month at 60 years of age. Or, says Reuther, a formula could be developed which would give a retiring 60-year-old worker full pay until he is 65. Then the company would continue to pay about $120 a month instead of the full wage. With social security this could come to $300 a month.

But proposals for earlier retirement are far from being abandoned.

These are just a few of the union demands on just one company, albeit the biggest, with 354,000 plant workers.

Commercial Suicide?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The Department of Justice is seeking the power to decide, in effect, how many newspapers a city may have and who shall be prohibited from owning them. The Constitution, of course, forbids Congress to pass any law—including any antitrust act—which abridges the freedom of the press. But a suit just filed against a Cincinnati newspaper is presumably based on the theory that the Supreme Court of the United States may rule at will that same Constitution.

Many cities, due to economic exigencies, now have only one newspaper or a morning and afternoon newspaper owned by a single company.

Theoretically, it might appear that each community should have competitive newspapers and for many years in America this was the case.

Over a period of time, more and more of the communities have found themselves served by a single newspaper property.

In 1945, for instance, out of the 1,345 cities in this country having a daily newspaper, there was more than one ownership in each of only 81 cities, today, 1,488 cities and towns have a daily newspaper and all but 66 communities have a single ownership, whether publishing a morning or afternoon edition or both.

WHAT BROUGHT this about? Certainly it was not the wish of the newspaper proprietors themselves, so many of whom, when forced to the wall by economic difficulties, ended up by either extinguishing the property altogether or selling the residual assets to a former competitor.

Why, all of a sudden, should the Department of Justice set itself up as the supervisor of the number of newspaper properties in the United States?

It's necessary to look behind the scenes, where it will be found that, as usual, politics—the opportunity to curry favor with national labor unions—is largely responsible for the new turn in administration policy.

Labor unions naturally are anxious to preserve jobs, and this objective can be readily understood. But, as newspaper properties under a single ownership in a community have become successful and as population has increased, more jobs have been created. Also, many a merger has resulted in a better-balanced newspaper serving all classes of readers in a community and diminishing the extreme partisanship so characteristic of rival newspapers many years ago.

Newspapers, of course, do not have a monopoly on communication facilities within a city, and even a single ownership doesn't mean monopoly.

NEWPAPERS everywhere face the stiffest competition today not merely for circulation but for the revenues they must derive from advertising in order to keep going.

Thus, in nearly every part of the United States, morning newspapers published in large cities usually regard their territory as extending many miles beyond the point of origin. Magazines of all kinds and weekly newspapers also are distributed in the smaller communities. Radio and television broadcasts enter all areas as well and carry local and national advertising.

In the face of such competition the two local enterprises in many a community have had a hard time making ends meet. This has brought about mergers.

Under federal law, the labor unions in each industry, however, have a national monopoly not subject to antitrust prosecutions. The unions may bargain collectively and fix wage scales throughout the country.

Employers in small towns have been more economic power than would be the case if individual properties were threatened with a work stoppage. But even in New York City a prolonged strike in 1962 killed off the large newspaper.

THE LATEST antitrust suit is said to be different from all others. In this case, the company owning an afternoon newspaper in Cincinnati is accused of monopoly and restraint of trade because in 1956 it bought control of the stock of the morning newspaper, which is the only other newspaper in the city. Different management, different editorial policies and separate printing plants have been maintained ever since, but after eight years all this is suddenly forgotten by the Department of Justice.

Under the oldest concept of property rights, it has never been held that an owner should be forced to go to the borderline of bankruptcy before he can sell a deteriorating asset to a competitor.

The Department of Justice evidently thinks otherwise and that antitrust laws may be used to bring about a form of commercial suicide.

Draft of Ohioans Delayed by U.S. Economy Drive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Johnson administration's recent economy drive is keeping numerous potential draftees in several areas of Ohio out of the Army for at least an additional month, state Selective Service headquarters disclosed today.

Col. James Brennan, executive officer, said the headquarters has been trying to rebuild its large pool of acceptable when married men were excluded from the draft.

As a result, he said, larger numbers of registrants of draft age than normal have been called to take their physical examinations and other mental tests at induction centers around the state.

Because of the economy measures, he said, the extra money needed to transport these extra men from their homes to the centers and to pay meals and lodging is not available.

Several of these men who had been slated for examinations this month, therefore, have been delayed for at least a month. Brennan emphasized that any men slated to go on active duty still would be doing so as scheduled.

He said only the men who have to travel by bus, train and plane from cities other than the induction centers at Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati are being delayed, and then only the extra men being summoned to build up the available pool.

Watkins Elected By Demeter Club

Glenn Watkins of Lisbon Grange was elected master of the Demeter Club at its annual meeting Monday night at Midway Grange hall. He succeeds Jack Pozenel of West Point Grange.

Other officers are Ray Snyder of Liverpool Township Grange secretary-treasurer; Norman Barnett of Mile Branch, lecturer, and Hugh Farmer of Midway, chaplain. Guy Frantz and Kenneth Bell of Midway and Arthur McElroy of Liverpool Township were the nominating committee.

Charles L. Morlan, county deputy master, gave a few remarks.

Lynn Elliott of Clarkson Grange had charge of the lecturer's program which included:

Barbara Walter, Bayard Grange, accordion solo; Miss Louise Klitz, Unity, reading; Miss Joyce Slutz, Perry, vocal solo; Mrs. Edwin Schmidt and Allen Schmidt, Perry, piano solo; Mrs. John Schnader, Midway, vocal solo and Elliott sisters of Clarkson, piano duet.

Miss Esther Smith, Ceres of Ohio State granges was the guest speaker. The benediction was given by Mrs. Helen Short of Perry Grange.

S. D. Bailey of Midway printed and donated the tickets for the banquet which was served by the Midway Grange members.

Robert Posse presided as master in the absence of Jack Pozenel who was unable to attend.

White House Has Gala In Honor of Israeli Minister

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House put forth an evening of Bach and dancing in honor of Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol. President Johnson, in a champagne toast, promised efforts to solve Israel's water shortage.

It was one of the biggest state dinners in recent years—with 177 guests—and Johnson was back in dancing form.

Among those he twirled on the marble-tiled north entrance foyer was a former president's daughter, Margaret Truman Daniel.

The President, who had taken a respite from dancing at the state dinner last week for Ireland's president, stayed on the dance floor Monday night for an hour and a half.

He started by twirling Mrs. Eshkol to a medley of show tunes. Though the Eshkols left at 11:40 p.m., Johnson danced on until 12:25 p.m. Mrs. Johnson had already left.

The President escorted his daughter, Lynda, 20, out with him. Then he smilingly brought her back to continue dancing, explaining he had to leave because of an early breakfast with Democratic legislative leaders today.

Bach selections were played by famed violinist Mischa Elman at the after-dinner musicale in the East Ballroom. The Ward Swingle singers, organized in Paris, performed their special brand of vocal and rhythmic Bach.

Eshkol meets again today with Johnson. Also on his schedule were a luncheon with Chief Justice Earl Warren, a meeting with AFL-CIO President George Meany and conferences at the State and Defense departments. He will be host at a reception late today for President and Mrs. Johnson.

Ex-Actress Happy In Catholic Monastery

NEW YORK (AP)—Dolores Hart, the blonde actress who abandoned Hollywood a year ago to enter a Roman Catholic monastery, says she has found happiness and satisfaction.

Miss Hart, 25, was interviewed Monday by a New York Post reporter at Regina Laudis, the Benedictine sisters' monastery in Bethlehem, Conn., where she is a postulant.

VELZY TO BE SPEAKER

LISBON — Richard J. His topic will be "Higher Education in Columbiana County." Edwin Kauffman is program chairman.

Five Approved for Conservation Program

LISBON — The board of supervisors of the Columbiana County Soil and Water Conservation District last month approved five more co-operators in the county program.

The following farmers with 266 acres were added:

Andrew Voyteck, Salem RD 2, 143 acres in Butler Township; North Properties, East Rochester RD 1, 67 acres in Hanover Township; East Palestine Sportsmen's Club, East Palestine, 40 acres in Unity Township; R. J. Barrow, 108 Fairfield Ave., Columbiana, 10 acres in Fairfield Township and Wells Conkle, East Liverpool RD 1, six acres in Liverpool Township.

PROBATION PROBE SET

LISBON — A probation investigation has been ordered by Judge Joel H. Sharp for Ronald Lee Adkins, 18, of East Liverpool who was found guilty by a jury May 8 of the Sept. 17 burglary of the Iron City Distributing Co. in East Liverpool.

Adkins last week asked the court for a new trial which was refused. Gerald L. Grimm, 22, Newell, W. Va., also indicted by the April grand jury for the burglary, pleaded guilty and requested probation. The court has not yet ruled on his request.

MR. AND MRS. Wilbur E. Baird of RD 2, Leetonia, will be honored by their daughter, Mrs. Ronald Edgerton of Aberdeen, Md., at an open reception Sunday from 2 to 6 p.m. at the Baird home, on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Loueta Peppel and Mr. Baird were married June 3, 1939, in Salem and have lived in the area since. Mr. Baird is employed by the Mullins Company and Mrs. Baird is manager of the Beacon Ambulance Service at Leetonia.

They also have a son, Robert O. Baird, serving with the navy stationed at Hawaii, and one granddaughter.

MRS. ROBERT A. HILL of Carole Drive entertained members of the Cardmates Club recently.

Prizes at "500" were won by Mrs. Paul Harrington and Mrs. Billy Crookston.

The next meeting will be June 18 at 8:30 p.m. with Mrs. Glen Smith of the Pidgeon Road.

GROUP DISCUSSION followed a talk on "Juvenile Court" by Attorney Thomas Coe, who was the guest speaker when 18 members of the Jaycees met for dinner Thursday night at the Lape Hotel. Hostesses were Mrs. Jack Pierce and Mrs. Charles Ward.

Mrs. William Bartholomew presided at the business session when future projects were discussed.

The next meeting will be June 25 at 6:30 p.m. when the group will have dinner at Barnett restaurant.

MRS. GEORGE BELL of RD 1, Salem, will entertain members of the December Group of the First United Presbyterian Church at a dessert luncheon Wednesday at 1 p.m. Mrs. Harold Babb will be in charge of the program.

AMONG THOSE WHO participated in the 10th anniversary observation of the founding of the Phoebe Fraunces Chapter of Salem and Lewis Kinney Chapter of Lisbon, Daughters of American Revolution, were (l. to r.) Mrs. Victor C. Ballenger, regent of the Salem chapter; Mrs. Richard L. Andrus, regent of the Lisbon chapter; Mrs. Gerald F. Duryee, vice chairman of DAR national defense committee and regent of the Canton chapter; Mrs. Harvey A. Minton of Columbus, vice president general, National Society DAR; Miss Amanda A. Thomas of Columbus, guest speaker and state regent of the Ohio Society, DAR, and Mrs. Gurney E. Fry of Canton, district director Ohio DAR Society.

members of the Salem chapter were also honored.

Hold Memorial Service

A memorial service for deceased members honored Edith C. Archibald, Edith F. Mangus and Jennie M. Smith, with Mrs. Jack Hernstrom, vice regent of Phoebe Fraunces chapter, and Mrs. Robert Laughlin, chaplain of the Lisbon chapter presiding.

Each of the 78 persons attending the event was presented a souvenir booklet of the Fraunces Tavern restaurant in New York which is the oldest building in Manhattan and is a colonial museum owned by the Sons of the Revolution.

The commemoration of the anniversary was conducted in the form of a "business meeting" at which Mrs. Victor Ballenger, regent of the Salem chapter, and Mrs. Richard L. Andrus, regent of the Lisbon chapter, presided.

A paper prepared by Mrs. Michael Schuller, telling the highlights of the last 10 years of the Phoebe Fraunces Chapter, was read by Mrs. Herbert Spielman. Miss Jean VanFossen gave the history of the Lewis Kinney Chapter.

Miss Helen Ramsey, organizing regent of the Lisbon chapter, gave an historical sketch of her ancestor, Lewis Kinney, for whom the Lisbon group was named.

A story of a plot to murder Gen. George Washington and to capture New York City, written by Mrs. Verna Brown Svenson of the Salem chapter, was read by Mrs. Don Long.

Guests welcomed were Mrs. Clyde Shoff and Mrs. Doyle.

The next club meeting will be June 25 at the home of Mrs. John Minarcik of the Depot Road.

MISS MARGARITA WYSS, bride-elect of Carl Whinery, was feted at a miscellaneous pre-bridal shower Sunday afternoon by Mrs. Richard Wyss in her home on W. 7th St.

There were 25 in attendance and gifts were placed in a mock "wishing well".

Winners of game prizes were Mrs. Leland Hahn Mrs. Woodward Wyss, Mrs. Shirley Shaffer and Mrs. Florian Wyss.

The hostess served a buffet lunch from a table centered with a three-tier white cake trimmed in pink and green and topped with a miniature "wishing well". Fluffy pink net nut cups were favors.

Miss Wyss and Mr. Whinery will be married June 13 at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary of the Winona Methodist Church.

SIXTY-FIVE descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gorby held their first family reunion Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barnard of RD 5, Salem.

A coverdish dinner was enjoyed at noon and the afternoon was spent playing baseball and other games.

MEMBERS OF THE Salem Area Retired Workers will meet Thursday at 1 p.m. at the CIO hall on Prospect St., and hear guest speaker, Rev. Harold Deitch, talk on "Housing for the Elderly."

Those desiring transportation are to call the hall between 1 and 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Carol Murdock Feted at Shower

Miss Carol Murdock was the guest of honor Monday evening at a pre-nuptial courtesy when friends and relatives gathered in the home of Mrs. David White of 948 S. Union Ave.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decor. A pink umbrella adorned with pastel love birds and pink rose buds was placed at the gift table.

Tiny pink rosebuds clustered in a pink and lavender bowl, highlighted by pale pink tapers in crystal holders, provided the centerpiece for the buffet table which was laid with a lace cloth. Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. William White, mother of the bride-to-be.

Gifts of linen were presented to Miss Murdock, along with each guest's favorite recipe. Prizes in games were awarded to Mrs. Larry Miller, Mrs. Paul White, Mrs. Larry Shaffer, Miss Elaine Migliarini, Miss Barbara Bricker, Mrs. Margaret Hanney, Miss Judy Volpe, and Mrs. Robert Seaton. Misses Christine White and Jennifer White assisted the hostess throughout the evening.

Miss Murdock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William White of 194 W. 7th St., will be united in marriage to Duane McClaskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. McClaskey of 911 S. Union Ave., June 13 at 11 a.m. before the immediate families at Holy Trinity English Lutheran Church. Rev. Dan Keister, pastor, will officiate.

For a man spread, grind cheddar cheese with sweet onion; mix with just enough mayonnaise to moisten slightly. Serve with rye bread and let the men spread their own.

MISS SIXTEEN CONTEST-ANT.—Janet Sue Pruszenski, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Pruszenski of RD 1, New Waterford, and a sophomore at East Palestine High School, is a candidate for the "Miss Sixteen of America" contest. Final selection will be made June 23.

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: As you know, even coming near the cutting blade, permanent starch is a plastic-type finish added to a fabric.

The removal of this type starch poses a problem because it requires knowing the exact fiber content of the fabric, as well as the specific plastic used in the starch before a suitable solvent can be chosen. Water (either hot or cold) will NOT remove the plastic starch once too much has been used on a garment.

The homemaker can try to remove the excess starch by dipping the garment in a household dry cleaning solvent. I would recommend using a sample, perhaps a seam, before trying the whole garment.

A housewife could also write to the manufacturer of the starch as he could recommend suitable solvents for the specific type used.

PATRICIA A. HUFF

Home Service Director

Ladies, this woman is great. Not only because she suggested that we try dry cleaning fluid (and be sure to WATCH THE CAUTION LABEL on whichever brand you use) to remove the starch, but because she suggested that you write to the manufacturer.

Do just that!

We also have found that if you get too much plastic starch in a garment, rubbing alcohol straight from the bottle (be sure and spot test a piece first), or diluted with water, removes most brands of plastic starch now on the market.

DEAR HELOISE: I just found a good substitute for straps on high chairs for a wee one who is just starting to sit up.

Our high chair strap is long gone so I use a wide stretchy-type belt that will go around the back of the chair, and also hold baby firm without hurting him. I find it works fine.

KEVIN'S MOMMY.

Dear Heloise: When cutting buttons from worn garments I use a razor blade placed between the button and material, cutting the thread from one eye only (if it is a two-eyed button). Then the button will lift off free of thread.

S. E. D.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to pass along a hint for the benefit of men who use electric lawn mowers. We have to be very careful to avoid cutting the electric cord.

I took an old car radio antenna and bent the small end into a U-shape hook through which the cord on the lawn mower could pass as it was released from the bracket on the mower handle.

THE LARGER end of the antenna was inserted into the hollow end of the handle (after first cutting a hole in the rubber grip).

I wrapped some friction tape around the end to help hold it in the tubing handle.

I prefer to mow at right angles to the electric outlet, with the antenna pointing toward the source of the power. The cord trails along the ground at least two feet from the mower, never

Rights Passage Seen June 18

Cloture Effort Set Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today he expects the Senate to pass the civil rights bill by June 18 — if next week's effort to cut off debate is successful.

Dirksen said he "would rather guess" supporters of the House-passed legislation would be able to muster the necessary two-thirds vote to impose cloture and cut off the rights debate. If all 100 senators vote, the votes of 67 senators will be needed.

Dirksen and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield agreed Monday to file a cloture petition — which requires 16 names — on Saturday. This would mean a vote next Tuesday, June 9.

Dirksen said he was confident the GOP forces would produce more than two-thirds of their number for cloture. There are 33 Republican senators. Dirksen has been trying to line up 25 for cutting off the debate and has said even this figure might be exceeded.

If 25 Republicans support cloture, 42 Democratic votes would be needed — assuming all 100 senators vote. An Associated Press survey at the start of the week listed 58 senators committed to support cloture, 26 opposed and 16 undecided or refusing to commit themselves.

Mansfield declined to predict success of the cloture attempt. "I'm figuring to do my best," he said.

Glenn Rhodes Named Mayor At Rogers

ROGERS — Glenn Rhodes was officially appointed mayor of the village in action taken by Council Monday.

Rhodes, who has served for 90 days as acting mayor, replaces Robert McCready, who had to resign because he moved to East Palestine.

The first action of the new mayor was to appoint Glenn Baker as president of council.

In other business, Council approved purchase of a blanket bond to cover Sidney Cowan, marshal, and auxiliary patrolmen for the village.

Council also approved the rewriting of several ordinances by Solicitor Donald Elliott to conform to new state laws.

A discussion was held on leasing part of the village property on the southwest corner to Allen and Dale Pitzer. Investigation will be made into the matter, with the aid of Elliott.

Albert Starkey, street commissioner, reported that name street signs have been erected in the village with the exception of four markers, which will be put up within a week.

Council will investigate the purchase of new radar equipment and will also attempt to find out if a radar license is available for the village.

Next meeting will be July 6.

and must "follow in his (Nehru's) footsteps."

If this reflects Shastri's foreign policy, it will mean a continuation of nonalignment under which India accepts economic and military aid from both sides of the Iron Curtain but does not consider itself a member of any bloc.

Acting Prime Minister G. L. Nanda nominated Shastri before the Congress party members in the central hall of Parliament. Desai seconded the nomination, saying the party would "continue to adhere to the ideals" of Nehru. Approval followed in a burst of applause.

President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan will complete the formalities by asking Shastri to form a government and swear him in, probably later this week.

The Patrol said Talmadge G. Garvin, 32, of Alliance was backing his bulk milk truck, owned by D. & B. Inc. of Beloit, from a driveway and had started north on County Rd. 401 (Homeworth - Alliance Rd.), about a mile south of Route 62.

A northbound car operated by Marion C. Kandel, 20, of RD 1, Homeworth hit the truck from behind. He was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

Columbiana's Jim Ward Gets Stanford Scholarship

Jim Ward, Columbiana High School's great sprint star has scholarship from Stanford University in Stanford, Calif.

This year's 440-hard dash state champion also had numerous offers from some of the leading universities and colleges in the nation. Michigan University wanted the senior, 160-pound athlete for football.

A great competitor, Ward re-wrote track records at Columbiana High School, in the Columbiana County track and field meet, and in the NEO district meet the past two years.

He won the quarter-mile run in the state meet at Columbus in 48.3 two weeks ago, and placed second in the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

His best career time in the century was 9.5 seconds, and in the 220-yard dash, 21.

A leg injury kept him out of the broad jump most of the past season. His best effort in the event has been 23 feet, 6 1/2 inches.

He was a varsity performer in football, basketball and track and field.

Jim Ward

at Columbiana since his sophomore year.

His coach at Stanford will be Payton Jordan. Ward plans to major in accounting at the California school.

Leonard Robinson

Leonard Robinson, 44, of 408 W. Pershing St. died of cancer at 7 a.m. Monday at his home following an 11-month illness.

Born Jan. 10, 1920, in England, he was the son of Leonard and Ada Cartilage Robinson.

In 1945, he married Lillie Waugh, who survives. A modest woman at the Salem Glass Co., he was a member of the Salem Junior Democratic Club.

Also surviving are two daughters, Misses Irene and Margaret; one son, Ian, all of the home; and three sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Cook of Sandpoint, Idaho; Mrs. Wynne Hines of Seguin, Idaho, and Mrs. Alice Weaver of England.

The two-day meeting already was setting off political reverberations in election-conscious Washington. But the assembled diplomatic and military authorities at Pacific Command headquarters appeared to ignore—at least officially—everything but the subjects at hand.

Efforts to solve the Southeast Asia crisis began Monday with a more-than nine-hour session that convened in a heavily guarded room, moved to a private beach for a working lunch and closed back behind locked doors.

That same schedule was in force today with most of the officials, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who presided, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who planned to fly home to Washington after final adjournment about dusk.

None of the conferees would disclose what directions their meetings were taking. It appeared likely that details of any recommendations will be revealed only after approval by President Johnson.

Political reaction to the talks

came from Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee. He said in a Congressional Record statement that the conference won't be productive unless the administration gives up what he termed false premises that belong in the past.

Laird said executive policy in Southeast Asia is unrealistic in its approach to Communist-inspired problems.

Ruska, asked about Laird's charge, declined comment. The assembled Cabinet officers, ambassadors and military leaders have been instructed by the President to review American policy in Southeast Asia and make suggestions for its future course.

There were growing indications that military moves were being charted to show pro-Communist insurgents the United States means business. Limited military pressures have been applied in the past—notably in Thailand in 1962—with temporary success.

Increased U.S. military activity in Southeast Asia could take a number of courses including jet reconnaissance flights over Communist North Viet Nam or a carrier task force cruising just outside North Vietnamese territorial waters—close enough to be seen from shore.

Burglaries

after she closed at about 11 p.m. Sunday.

Entrance was gained through an unlocked window on the third floor, reached by a fire escape on the east side of the old Grand theater building.

Once inside the building, the intruders forced open a door leading to the second floor to get into the bar room. From there they broke down another door leading into the secretary's office.

Two safes in the secretary's office were broken into. The smaller, about 32 inches high and 21 inches wide, was forced open by driving a wedge between the door and the frame of the safe and springing the door with a one and one-half inch bar.

Safes Yield $1,856

The dial was broken off the outside of the door and the shaft was driven out. About $690 in cash was taken.

The larger, double-door safe was forced by driving the bar into the upper left corner of the right door and springing the two doors. The right door was bent in and the left door was bent out.

Cash totaling approximately $1,166 and a watch with a Moose emblem as the face were taken. A cigarette lighter was taken from the secretary's desk.

About $10 in change from the bar, $14 in change from the cigarette machine, $5 from the juke box, another cigarette lighter and six fifths of whiskey were taken from the bar room.

Police theorize the robbers left the same way they entered because no other doors or windows were found opened.

The Eagles Lodge robbery took place between 11:30 p.m. Monday, when it was locked and 7:04 a.m. today, when Ralph Gregg, an employee, opened the building to clean up.

Chief Deputy Robert Beresford, who made the investigation, said a window in the tavern was broken to gain entrance. An undetermined amount of money in three glass jars was stolen.

Once again the yeggs ascended a small fire escape to get into the building. They used a ladder to force a metal window at men; at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

the first floor level, gaining entry to the bar room.

In the bar room a pool table was broken into by using a pry bar and looted of about $25. Also pilfered were a cigarette machine, which yielded about $20, a bowling game, $10, and a juke box, $5.

All of the machines are owned by Keith Ackerman of W. State St., who also owns the machines which were looted at the Moose Lodge.

Police discovered the rear door at the Knights of Columbus Hall open at 5:30 a.m. today while on routine patrol. The building had been locked at 1 a.m. following a meeting.

The door was forced open with a three-quarter inch bar allowing the intruders to enter a room in the northeast corner of the building where they then forced a door open into a storage room and broke open another to get into the bar room.

Upstairs in the building, a hasp was forced off of a filing cabinet, a metal desk in another room was broken into, and in the main meeting room, three large wood cabinets were forced open.

Officials of the club said nothing appears to be missing. The amount of property damage was not estimated.

Blake reported the break-in at 9:45 this morning.

Deputies Probing Tavern Burglary

LISBON — Sheriff's deputies are investigating a burglary at the Brookside Tavern, on Route 7 just north of its junction with County Road 419, which occurred early Monday morning, according to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossen.

Funerals Deaths

William Sevenich

William Scott Sevenich, five-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sevenich of RD 2, Salem, was dead on arrival Monday at 4:50 p.m. at the Central Clinic Hospital.

Born in Salem Jan. 9, he is survived by his parents and grandparents, Mrs. Anna Sevenich of Leetonia and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Disher of Stanton, Texas.

Private services will be Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the Stark Memorial in charge of Rev. William Longsworth, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Burial will be in Grandview Cemetery.

There will be no calling hours.

Leonard Robinson

Leonard Robinson, 44, of 408 W. Pershing St. died of cancer at 7 a.m. Monday at his home following an 11-month illness.

Born Jan. 10, 1920, in England, he was the son of Leonard and Ada Cartilage Robinson. In 1945, he married Lillie Waugh, who survives. A modest woman at the Salem Glass Co., he was a member of the Salem Junior Democratic Club.

Also surviving are two daughters, Misses Irene and Margaret; one son, Ian, all of the home; and three sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Cook of Sandpoint, Idaho; Mrs. Wynne Hines of Seguin, Idaho, and Mrs. Alice Weaver of England.

The two-day meeting already was setting off political reverberations in election-conscious Washington. But the assembled diplomatic and military authorities at Pacific Command headquarters appeared to ignore—at least officially—everything but the subjects at hand.

Efforts to solve the Southeast Asia crisis began Monday with a more-than nine-hour session that convened in a heavily guarded room, moved to a private beach for a working lunch and closed back behind locked doors.

That same schedule was in force today with most of the officials, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who presided, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who planned to fly home to Washington after final adjournment about dusk.

None of the conferees would disclose what directions their meetings were taking. It appeared likely that details of any recommendations will be revealed only after approval by President Johnson.

Political reaction to the talks

came from Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee. He said in a Congressional Record statement that the conference won't be productive unless the administration gives up what he termed false premises that belong in the past.

Laird said executive policy in Southeast Asia is unrealistic in its approach to Communist-inspired problems.

Ruska, asked about Laird's charge, declined comment. The assembled Cabinet officers, ambassadors and military leaders have been instructed by the President to review American policy in Southeast Asia and make suggestions for its future course.

There were growing indications that military moves were being charted to show pro-Communist insurgents the United States means business. Limited military pressures have been applied in the past—notably in Thailand in 1962—with temporary success.

Increased U.S. military activity in Southeast Asia could take a number of courses including jet reconnaissance flights over Communist North Viet Nam or a carrier task force cruising just outside North Vietnamese territorial waters—close enough to be seen from shore.

TV-Radio Today

"The purpose of this program is to give an honest report to the American people on India's will and ability to resist Chinese Communism aggression. It is important that it be done because the Indians do such a lousy job of reporting them selves."

IF ANYONE is capable of reporting India to Americans just now, John Masters feels his own credentials will do nicely.

"My family is five generations in India. The Indians and I speak the same language. In World War II—in the Near East and in Burma under Wingate—I had the 9th Gurkhas in my brigade. I ran into some of them while we were filming 'Jawan'."

In his autobiographical books, "Bugsies and a Tiger" and "The Road Past Mandalay," Masters told "what changes a school boy into a military officer" and "what changes an officer into a man."

In a forthcoming volume, "Pilgrim Son," he plans to tell "what changes a British soldier into an American novelist."

EARLY IN 1948 after India had won its independence, Masters came to the United States with the idea of running a travel agency that would conduct tours of the Himalayas.

The New Yorker magazine, catching wind that a "crazy Englishman" was in town peddling nursing brassiers while he tried selling his Himalayan tour scheme, sent reporter Rex Lardner down to Masters' "flea pit of a hotel."

In the course of their chat, Masters offered a brief survey of Hollywood's wooly ideas of a movie about India which had Lardner doubled up in laughter. "Write it," said Lardner.

Masters did. Lardner sold it next day to The Atlantic Monthly. And an extremely prolific career was off in a sprint that's never slowed down.

"One Indian brigade," he said, "was cut up and panicked. The 2nd Gurkhas killed more than 2,000 Chinese before they pulled out. But the Indians really fought well everywhere."

But the impression was: Why did they all run away? We lost faith in the wrong people. It's okay to lose faith in some politicians, who were responsible for the debacle and who still are unwilling to admit where the insanity is, but not in the ordinary Indian."

MASTERS PUT THE IDEA of a "Jawan" report to NBC late last spring and, with producer Gerald Green and cameraman Henri Toluzzini filmed it in India a year's end.

"The Himalayas and Karakoram Mountains," he said, blowing out a soft whistle, "are really startling in the color film we shot."

"You could take all the mountains in the world and not fit them into the Himalayas. They're good television. And when you've got them, you don't spend 40 minutes of your hour

Cleveland Shuts Out Chicago 3-0 Behind Kralick

Wagner Socks 11th Homer

McDowell Will Hurl For Indians Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — Leon Wagner, the Cleveland Indians' new muscleman, continues his mastery of left-handed pitchers. Seven of the slugger's 11 home runs have been off southpaws.

"I guess I've seen so many of them that I'm used to it," the 6-foot-1 outfielder said Monday night after blasting No. 11 off lefty Juan Pizarro in Cleveland's 3-0 triumph over league-leading Chicago.

"Some pitch me tight. Some pitch me outside. I know this Pizarro. He likes to pitch me inside. He was throwing that first one in there to get ahead."

Wagner's fourth-inning solo blast gave Tribe left-hander Jack Kralick all the support he needed for his fifth victory in six decisions. Kralick, Cleveland's winningest pitcher, struck out six, walked one and reduced his already sparkling earned run average to 1.82. He allowed four hits.

The victory was Cleveland's fourth in a row, and ended the White Sox' winning streak at four.

Wagner, a left-handed hitter, set his runs-batted-in figure to 40, best in the league.

The 30-year-old Wagner, obtained from Los Angeles in an off-season trade, quickly endeared himself to Cleveland fans yearning for a long-ball hitter. They expect him to hit a flock of homers and that's what he's doing.

Veteran Cleveland rooters feel if the colorful left fielder continues his present RBI pace he should surpass Hal Trosky's Cleveland record of 162 RBI set in 1936.

Sharing the hitting spotlight with Wagner was second baseman Larry Brown, whose two-run single in the sixth completed the Indians' scoring. His hit came after Cleveland loaded the bases on Wagner's single, John Romano's double and an intentional walk to Max Alvis.

Cleveland plays Chicago again tonight and southpaw Sam McDowell (1-0) will make his first start of the season against the White Sox' John Buzhardt, a right-hander with a 5-2 record.

Rookie Bunker Chalks Up 6th In Row

Chisox Lose; Stuart's Homer Paces Boston To Late Victory

By MIKE RATHETT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Don't Fence Me In" never was Leon Wagner's theme song.

When the slugging outfielder was traded by the Los Angeles Angels to the Cleveland Indians he said bluntly:

"Instead of trading me they should have pulled the fences in and doubled my salary."

The Angels, however, were unable to accommodate Wagner. The Indians may have to—in the salary department at least.

Wagner proved his point again Monday night, leading Cleveland to a 3-0 victory over the American League-leading Chicago White Sox, collecting home No. 11 and a single and scoring two runs in support of Jack Kralick's four-hit pitching.

Wagner hit only two homers at home last year in the wide-open spaces of Los Angeles Dodger Stadium while hammering 24 on the road. But the Angels decided to leave the fences where they were and traded Wagner for pitcher Barry Latman and first baseman Joe Adcock.

Now Wagner's making a solid case for a pay raise.

His latest hot streak—11 hits in 18 at-bats, including homers in the last three games—has boosted his batting average to 309 and his runs-batted-in total to a league-leading 40. At this stage of the season, he's almost half way to his 1963 figures of 26 homers and 90 RBI.

Boston's Dick Stuart, meanwhile, continued his homer hammering, hitting his seventh in the last nine games, a two-run shot in the eighth inning that gave the Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Angels.

In the other AL games scheduled, Wally Bunker posted his sixth victory without a loss as Baltimore whipped Kansas City 8-4 and Dick Stigman pitched Minnesota to a 2-1 victory by checking the New York Yankees on five hits.

The only National League game scheduled—Los Angeles at Pittsburgh—was rained out. Kralick with the only run he had.

Wagner provided Kralick with the only run he needed by hitting his homer off Juan Pizarro in the fourth. The Indians scored their other runs in the sixth on Larry Brown's two-run single.

Kralick, bringing his record to 5-1, was in serious trouble only in the seventh when the White Sox loaded the bases with two out. But he got Gerry McNeary, batting for Pizarro, to line out and end the threat. Pizarro is now 5-2.

Angels starter Barry Latman, who hadn't given up an earned run, led 3-2 going into the eighth and retired the first two Red Sox batters. Then Felix Mantilla beat out an infield single and Stuart followed with the game-winning homer.

The Red Sox, however, lost outfielder Carl Yastrzemski, the AL's leading hitter last year, for a day or two at least when he spiked himself in the left ankle in the first inning. The cut required stitches.

Dick Hall's one-hit relief over the final 3 2-3 innings preserved Bunker's perfect record. Bunker was tagged for a two-run homer by Wayne Causey in the third and chased in the sixth when Ed Charles, hitless in 19 previous trips, slapped a two-run single that cut the Orioles' lead to 6-4.

The Orioles put the game out of reach with a five-run third inning, Norm Siebern and Dick Brown each stroking two-run singles in the rally. Luis Aparicio homered for Baltimore in the eighth.

The Twins managed only six hits off Yankee starter Ralph Terry, but Don Mincher provided a run with a homer in the second inning and a single by Bernie Allen, a wild pitch, a force out and Zoilo Versalles' single produced the other run in the fifth.

That was enough for Stigman, who did not let a Yankee past second base until Elston Howard broke up his shutout bid with a homer in the eighth. Stigman has a 2-3 record.

Baugh Moves Up From Assistant To Oilers' Head Coach In Week

HOUSTON (AP) — Sammy Rymkus might return to the club's fourth head coach in Baugh, pleased when named assistant coach of the Houston Oilers just two weeks ago, has an even better job today—that of head coach of the American Football League team.

Frank (Pop) Ivy was fired Monday as head coach and general manager and immediately replaced by Baugh, who Ivy had hired as his offensive assistant.

Ivy was shocked to learn when he reported for work that Baugh, the former National League passing great, had succeeded him with a one-year contract.

"An opinion has been built up among the fans that Pop can't cut the mustard," said club owner K. S. (Bud) Adams, in making the announcement.

Meanwhile, there was the possibility that former coach Lou

Odum, a 6-foot, 175-pound Negro fast-baller, was signed shortly after graduation ceremonies at Ballard Hudson High School in Macon.

In four seasons at the school, Odum won 42, lost two and pitched eight no-hits, leading his team to state titles the past two years. In the state championship game his spring, he pitched a no-hitter and struck out 19 of the 21 batters he faced.

2 Church Squads Have 3-0 Records

First Assembly of God and Emmanuel Lutheran each posted their second straight wins of the season in City Church (slo-pitch) League competition at Kelley Field Saturday.

Frank Huber socked a seven-inning three-run home run to give Emmanuel Lutheran a 12-11 edge over Presbyterian, and First Assembly of God clipped Phillips Christian with a four-run rally in the bottom of the seventh.

Eichler, Edgerton, Piariek and Meigler each had two hits for Emmanuel Lutheran. Field clouted a home run for Presbyterian Ryser had triple and double, Griffin, triple and single and Wright three singles. Presbyterian dropped its second in a row.

Dick Barnes Jr. led First Assembly of God with a triple and two singles. Hutton had two singles and Demes a triple.

Geary led the losers (0-2) with a double and two singles.

All three places in the National Division remained the same, with Fisher Realty holding down the top notch, following action in the Robbyn's Knoll GOLF League recently.

Gordon Scott had another point chopped off its American bracket lead and leads second place Circle Pump by only one point.

Fisher, with a 30½-5½ record, holds a three-point lead over Julian Electric. Herron Foods is next at 25½-10½.

Web Hannon of Log Cabin, Tony Pagella of Robbyn's Knoll, Del Court of Herron Foods. Judy Julian of Julian Electric, Harold Paxton of Charlie's Boats and Dick Fisher of Lincoln Machine tied for low gross in the National loop with 38s.

The American loop leader, Gordon Scott, has a 30½-5½ record. Circle Pump is next with 29½-6½. Tied for third place are Eljer No. 2 and Moose with 29-7 records.

Cliff Aikens of Franklin Market, "Chink" Houst of Gordon Scott's and Ralph Knepper of Penn Grill all shot 39s.

No other starters are definite for the $125,000-added attraction at Aqueduct, but Harbor View is next at 25½-10½.

Controversial Bill Hartack, who guided the Dancer to its Derby and Preakness triumphs, will ride again as the dainty, short-striding Dancer seeks the first triple since Citation in 1948. In the 88-year history of the series, it's been done only eight times.

El Poco Ranch's Hill Rise, who will be ridden by Willie Shoemaker, also had a 2:04 1-5 workout at Aqueduct. Like Northern Dancer, Hill Rise finished strongly. The fractions were nearly the same.

No other starters are definite for the $125,000-added attraction at Aqueduct, but Harbor View is next at 25½-10½.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

We are in the process of cleaning out our auction barn. One of these days we hope to have some more square dances out there.

It is our intention to some day soon make some improvements in it so other events can be held there also.

We are known to do a lot of unusual things out here and its about time we come up with something different.

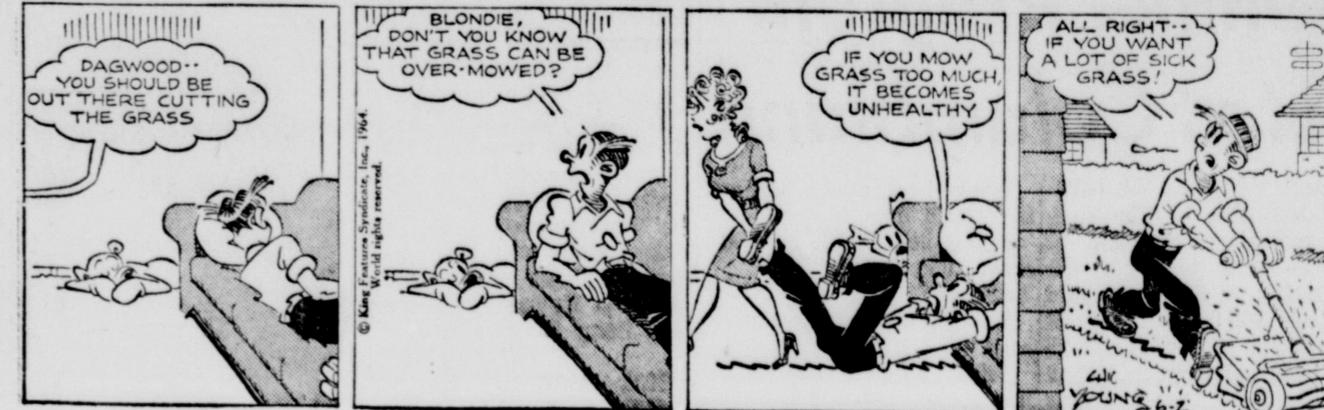

We do have a lot of good parking area out back so that will be a help to whatever we might come up with.

Summer Program Set at Columbian

By MRS. CHARLES WRIGHT

COLUMBIANA — The summer recreation program at Firestone Park will begin with registration Monday. Richard Berryman will be in charge of the program. Activities will include tennis, archery, basketball and softball for boys and girls from this year's fourth grade through high school.

The basketball program will be at the new outdoor court, located south of the tennis courts. The archery range is located north of the main baseball diamond. Program for tennis players will be divided into groups of beginners, intermediates, and advanced participants. Tournaments are planned for the tennis program later in the summer.

The summer schedule is as follows:

Monday

Basketball, grade eight and above, 9 a.m. to noon.

Tennis, all girls to be divided into groups, 1 to 3 p.m.

Archery, all boys and girls, 3 to 4 p.m.

Tuesday

Basketball, boys, grades four and five, 9 to 10:30 a.m.

Tennis, boys, grade eight and above, 1 to 4 p.m.

Wednesday

Softball, all boys, 9 a.m. to noon.

Tennis, all girls to be divided into groups, 1 to 3 p.m.

Archery, all boys and girls, 3 to 4 p.m.

Thursday

Basketball, boys, grades six and seven, 9 to 10:30 a.m.

Tennis, boys, grades six and seven, 10:30 a.m. to noon.

Tennis, boys, grade eight and above, 1 to 4 p.m.

Friday

Basketball, grade eight and above, 9 a.m. to noon.

Tennis, girls divided into groups, 1 to 3 p.m.

Archery, all boys and girls, 3 to 4 p.m.

Saturday

Basketball, boys, grades four and five, 9 to 10:30 a.m.

and in the church basement, with

Mrs. Donald Warren in charge of devotions. Mrs. Albert Wakefield will have the program and hostesses are Mrs. Edwin Rohrer and Mrs. Newton Grubbs.

A nursery will be provided.

Mrs. Gayl Gross is in charge of the program at the Mary Martha Circle meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the basement of the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Roland Gabe will have devotions. Hostesses for the meeting are Mrs. Fedora Detunno and Mrs. Harry Scheidemantle.

THE ANNUAL Children's Day Program will be presented by youth of the Presbyterian Church at 3 p.m. Sunday in the all-purpose room of the church.

Circle of Hope meeting was held in the church basement at the Presbyterian Church. Devotions were presented by Mrs. Harry Warrick and the program by Mrs. Carl Fisher. Hostesses were Mrs. Burt Miller and Mrs. Lloyd Binsley.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Exten of Howard St. are visiting this week with their father, Arthur Evans at Philadelphia and brother, M. Sgt. Arthur Evans, Jr. at McGuire Air Force Base, N. J. They will later travel to the New York World's Fair.

The 1964 senior class of Columbian High School left Saturday for a trip to New York from the Erie-Lackawanna station in Youngstown. Members will return Thursday, following a tour of the World's Fair, attending a Broadway show and participating in several guided tours of New York City.

Grade cards will be distributed to Columbian school students at 2 p.m. Wednesday, marking the close of the current school year.

Scholarship Winner

Adeline M. Thomas

NEW WATERFORD—Adeline Marie Thomas, a senior at Springfield Local High School, has been presented the "Jacob Koch Memorial Award" by the New Waterford Bank.

The award, established in 1961 in honor of Jacob Koch, one of the bank's early officers, provides $500 a year toward advanced educational tuition.

Miss Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Thomas of Calla Rd., New Middletown, plans to major in elementary education at Kent State. In high school she maintained a 3.31 point average.

Grade cards will be distributed to Columbian school students at 2 p.m. Wednesday, marking the close of the current school year.

City Awaits 3rd Onslaught Of Epidemic

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The city of Aberdeen braced today for a possible third wave in its typhoid epidemic.

Already 224 persons have been stricken and one woman has died. Another 17 suspected cases are in crowded hospitals and reports of infection are turning up in other parts of the country.

The original outbreak in this seaside city of 186,000 was blamed on a can of defective corned beef sold in a supermarket. The victims spread the disease to neighbors.

Today could be crucial in the fight to confine the disease said city health officer, Dr. Ian MacQueen.

"If there is a third wave—and we should know about the middle of the week—then matters will be very serious," he said.

Sixty-four cases were added Monday to the mounting toll. It was the biggest one-day rise since the epidemic broke out 11 days ago.

Aircraft reportedly spotted about 200 rebel Bafulero warriors—fierce pygmoids—moving north along the road to Bukavu. The 5-foot tribesmen, armed with bows and arrows, spears, clubs and machetes, plus some modern automatic weapons, routed five Congo army companies Sunday at the village of Kamanyola, 30 miles south of Bukavu.

Gaston Sounialot, an extremist who has close ties with Communist Chinese diplomats in Africa, directs the rebels from headquarters in the neighboring kingdom of Burundi.

MEETING POSTPONED

SUMMITVILLE — The Wednesday night meeting of the Franklin Township volunteer fire department trustees has been postponed because of eighth grade graduation exercises set at Franklin School.

The meeting will be held June 10 at 8 p.m., Ralph Cox, trustee president, announced.

Parade Is Next Event In Leetonia Festivities

LEETONIA — Opening the street fair at the annual Homecoming Wednesday will be a parade at 7 p.m.

Several drill teams and marching organizations will participate. All units taking part are to register in front of the Leetonia Tool Company offices on West St. Antique autos will also be featured in the event.

A band concert will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday. The Colleen's Marching Unit of St. Patrick's Church will be featured Friday at 7:30 p.m. with a dog show, children's contest and kiddies matinee set for Saturday.

The 23rd annual homecoming will conclude Saturday. Several thousand spectators were present Sunday at Central Park to witness the Buckeye Blues Brigade's staging of a Civil War battle which included troops carrying out demonstrations of various incidents, such as charges with horses, a firing squad and mock cremation followed by the victory of the Union.

The Military Ball Saturday was attended by over 200 soldiers and guests.

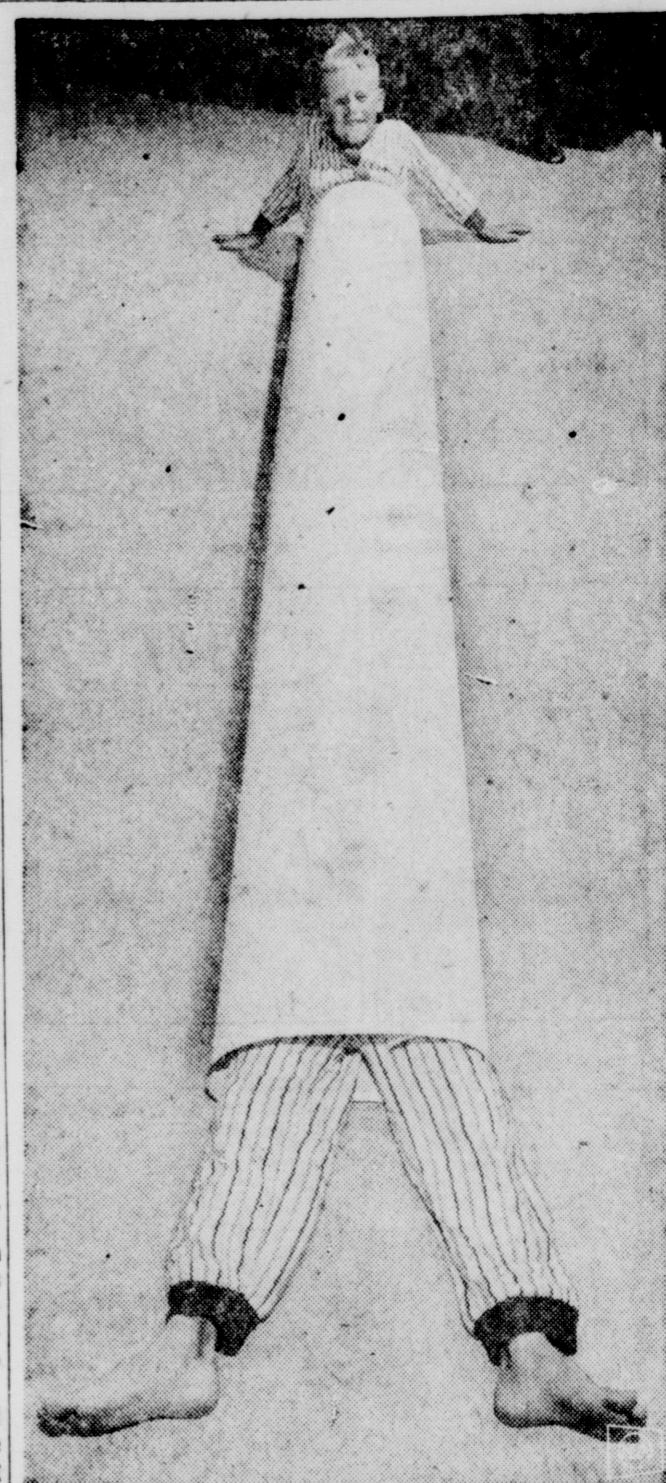

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND BAKER celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, with guests attending from the surrounding towns. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Baker and son, Larry of Oklahoma City, Okla., will be visiting with his parents this week, after coming for the anniversary celebration.

A report of the recent convention of the Ohio Synod of the Lutheran Church in America was given Sunday by the lay delegate, Richard Sitler. Four new congregations were received during the year, one at Canfield. The Biennial convention of the Lutheran Church in America will be held in Pittsburgh July 2-9.

THE ENGAGEMENT OF Miss Ann Cushing Irwin to Edward H. Turkle III, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Irwin of W. North Ave. in East Palestine.

Miss Irwin, the granddaughter of Mrs. Anna Cushing and the late Robert Cushing, Sr., of Leetonia, is a graduate of East Palestine High School and will receive her bachelor of arts degree from Mount Union College in June. She is employed in the editorial department of the Alliance Review. Her mother is the former Miss Ruth Cushing of Leetonia.

Her fiance, the son of Mr.

THE LEGS ARE "ARMS"—The arms belong to Mike Arms, 10, of San Rafael, Calif. The legs are "Arms," too—they belong to brother Paul, 9. In between—a giant-size roll of paper on which the lads hope to draw a baseball mural for their room.

Road Memorial Day.

Mrs. John C. Thompson has returned home from Salem City Hospital after undergoing an appendectomy. Visitors in the Thompson home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson and daughter Susan of Hayward, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Neel and son Scott of Big Springs, Texas.

Leetonia Police Arrests

Wesley C. Hays, 292 Walnut St., Fred Campbell, Negley, William Winters, RD 1, New Witterford, and Paul Miner of Pittsburgh St., Columbian, were each fined $15 and costs in Mayor Ralph Kennedy's court May 29, on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The arrests were made by Patrolman Nick Cross and William Beiling.

Students

Jack Thorne of Canton, son of Mrs. Pauline Thorne of N. Ellsworth Ave., received a bachelor of science degree in education Monday at graduation exercises at Malone College. He is married to the former Jean Fell of Salem.
